Burglany on Clark-street.—The residence of Samuel Berger, on Clark-street, near Baymiller, was feloniously entered night before last, and robbed of jewelry and money amounting in the aggregate to $37. The burglars entered the house by means of false keys, and would undoubtedly have carried off a larger amount of property but for a noise which aroused the inmates, and thus frightened them from their purpose.

Wise Policy.—The Hamilton and Dayton Railroad have determined to have their trains run early and late for the special bene-fit of the business and working men who wish to live in the country and do business or work in the city. All points on the line of the road will be benefitted, but none more so than Greenwood. Notice sale of lots, land and cottage, to come off there on Monday next, and take your family with you and get a home. Seats free.

Robbery at East Walnut Hills,—Yesterday morning, about nine o'clock, the residence of W. W. Scarborough, on East Walnut Hills, was entered and robbed of silver-ware to the amount of $150. A man silver-ware to the amount of $150. A man was seen leaving the house and afterward arrested and carried to the Hammond-street Station-house, where the ware was found upon his person. His name is said to be Joseph Reeder, and he will probably have a hearing this morning before Judge Lowe.

Pike's Opena House.—By reference to our advertising columns, it will be seen that the Opera-house will open on Monday evening with Love's Sacrifice. The names of the members of the company have already been published, and we doubt not the play, although it possesses little interest save that which it derives from its literary merit, will be performed in a manuer which will show be performed in a manner which will show all its dramatic situations to the best advan-tage. The new drop-curtain will be ex-hibited for the first time, and the season, from appearances, will open under the most favorable auspices.

CRILD INSTANTLY KILLEDBY A FALL .-- A child about a year old, belonging to Mrs. Frazer, residing in Broadway, near Liberty-street, was instantly killed yesterday afternoon in the following manner: The mother was standing on a porch, leaning against the balustrade, holding her babe in her arms and balustrade, holding her babe in her arms and busily engaged conversing with a neighbor, who lived in an adjoining house. The child, crowing and clapping its hands with delight, suddenly sprang from its mother's arms into the air and fell to a brick pave-ment beneath, a distance of nearly twenty feet. Shrieking with fear and surpriss Mrs. Frazer ran down stairs, and caught up her child just in time to catch its expiring breath upon her trembling lips. Its skull was fearfully fractured and its neck disjointed, thus causing death almost instantaneously.

taneously. Business Men's Prayer-meeting,—A lay-man told of the great success that he had in proclaiming salvation in the country. A clergyman confirmed the account, and thought that the success was chiefly due to the spirit of the leaders of the meeting.

Agentleman recorded an answer to prayer. A record of requests for prayer is kept by the meeting. The answers are also noted. This and the daily reports will show who are most prevailing in prayer, and what circum-stances are most favorable. Thus prayer will be reduced to an exact science, and re-lieved of that uncertainty which has heretofore tried the faith of the weaker brethren.

The same person requested prayer for two persons who were very much exposed.

A gentleman asked prayer for himself, that he might be delivered from the temptations which peculiarly beset a young man's pathway.

Sudden And Singular Demise—Fatal Result of a Bovine Post-mortem—A cow belonging to Henry Roemer and Henry Bande who, we believe, were brothers-in-law, died day before yesterday, very suddenly, and the owners thinking it had been poisoned, determined to make a vest-mortem examidetermined to make a post-mortem exami-nation of the body for the purpose of dis-covering, if possible, the cause of its death. Accordingly, they began to dissect the de-ceased quadruped, but before they finished, both were suddenly taken ill. Emesis folboth were suddenly taken ill. Emesis followed and spasms, and in spite of the efforts of a physician, who was immediately called to their relief, Bande died, and Roemer is in a condition that renders his recovery almost impossible. The parties reside in Deercreek Valley, and the circumstance has created considerable excitement throughout the vicinity. No inquest, we understand, has been held, but the case is so singular in every respect, that for the sake of science, an examination would not be amiss.

Board of City Improvements.—At the regular semi-weekly session of the Board of City Improvements, held yesterday morning, the subject of building a bridge over the Miami Canal, at Fourteenth-street, was submitted to Council, with communications on that subject from Mr. Borey and the citizens of the Seventh Ward.

Communications from E. B. Reeder, in relation to the improvement of streets on Mount Auburn; from Judge McLean and other parties, demanding the construction of certain sewers, west of Freeman-street; and of residents of the Twelfth Ward, protesting against the use of public sewers by slaughtering and other establishments, were read and referred.

The use of the Orphan Asylum Lot, on the 27th inst., was granted to the Old Woodward Club. The Engineer reported an estimate of the cost of paving Findley-street, from Canal to Campbell, and the Clerk was authorized to-prepare an assessment ordinance for the

The Public Schools of Cincinnati-Thirty-first Annual Report of the School Board.

The School Board of the city has just issued its thirty-first annual report. It is quite an interesting document to those interested in he Public Schools, and contains quite a large quantity of valuable information from which we make the following extracts:

STATISTICS OF THE SCHOOLS, The School census, taken in September, 1859, makes a return of 66,960 youths, be-1859, makes a return of 66,990 youths, between the ages of five and twenty-one years, 64,048 white, and 2,012 colored. Of these, 34,861 were returned as being between six and sixteen years of age; 25,792 whites as attending school—15,952 in the Public Schools, 8,186 in Parochial or Church Schools, and 1,674 in Private Schools; and 37,571 as not going to school, of whom 1,112

sttending school—15,932 in the Public Schools, $186 in Paroschial or Church Schools, and 1,674 in Private Schools, and 37,571 as not going to school, of whom 1,112 were colored children.

The rolls of the Public Schools exhibit the fact that in all the schools, of every grade and class, during the year, there have been 20,892 pupils enrolled, of whom the average number belonging to the schools, from time to time during the year, was 13,841. Of this average number belonging to the schools, the average of actual daily attendance was 12,537; and of daily absentees the average number was 1,297; of these absentees, the very large proportion of 277 (out of 848 pupils belonging), was in the Night Schools, showing that only 1,020 of the 12,993 pupils belonging this year to all the other schools were daily absent, being an average of little more than seven per cent. This degree of regularity has rarely been attained any where in a large system of schools, and 13c creditable to our people.

The average number of teachers employed was 317, of whom ninety were males and 227 females.

In the High Schools, 364 pupils were enrolled, and 327 was the average number belonging through the year. Of this number 316 were in actual attendance daily in school, being 180 boys and 136 girls. Twelve teachers were employed in the two High Schools at aggregated salaries amounting to $12,839 44. The total cost of these schools for the year was $14,933 23, being $41 02 for each pupil enrolled, or $45 66 for each of the average number throughout the year.

In the Intermediate Schools 1,179 pupils were envolled. The average number belonging during the year was $26, of whom the average number in actual attendance was $73, being 407 boys and 376 girls. The number of teachers in this department was twenty-four, of whom fourteen were males and ten females. Their salaries amounted to $15,559 31.

In the District Schools, including the Orphan Asylum and Industrial Schools

In the District Schools, including the Orphan Asylum and Industrial Schools, 17,615 pupils were enrolled, of whom the average number belonging for the year was 11,657, or, in actual daily attendance, 10,711. In conducting these schools 259 teachers on an average were employed, of whom 205 were females and fifty-four males. The aggregate salaries of these teachers amounted to $111,535 22, or $9 56 per pupil for tuition merely of the average number so belonging. In the night schools, 1,426 pupils, 1,247 males and 179 females were enrolled, and 848 was the average who belonged to them during their term of four months.

The result is, that in all these schools an $15,559 31.

The result is, that in all these schools an average of 13,841 pupils has been instructed the entire year, at an expense of $183,650 65, or $13 70 for each of the pupils belonging belonging, THE SCHOOL LIBRARY, The present contents of the Library number 22,048 volumes, besides the books of the Ohio Historical Society, over 3,000 volumes. A catalogue has just been published, and shows that the library embraces an extensive range in every department of literature, science, art and law. In connection with it is a gallery of paintings and statuary, selected with rare judgment, and worthy of any capital.

But the most remarkable evidence of its utility is in the fact that, although there has been no catalogue till recently, and but one book is given out at a time, the circulation during the past year was nearly 8,000 vol-umes monthly. Nearly that number of readers are now registered on the roll. So com-plete are the regulations and safeguards, that notwithstanding this wide use of the books, the Librarian reports that no book of value has been lost in circulation, and but very few remained out at the annual closing.

THE STATE OF THE SCHOOLS. The Superintendent in his report finds abundant reason for regarding the schools as gaining ground by a steady and healthful progress in the general scholarship and conduct of the youth who attend them. In this view he is confirmed by the report of the Committee on Examinations.

The Reard avails itself of the authority of

The Board avails itself of the authority of the same Committee to state, also, that along with this steady and satisfactory improvement of the Public Schools in the process of intellectual and moral education, there are equally satisfactory results manifest in respect to the health and physical development of the pupils. There is unquestionably great danger that the pupils, as well as teachers, in their ardor for pushing forward, forget the unerring laws of health, which should regulate such exertions.

There are many who suppose this subject is generally or wholly disregarded in our achools, and that the studies and discipline are such as necessarily tend to undermine the same Committee to state, also, that along are such as necessarily tend to undermine the health and vigor of the pupils. It wishes to put the most authoritative contradiction apon such statements. As a matter of fact, stick statements. As a matter of ract, it is only necessary to go into the Public Schools to see that the pupils are generally healthful and vigorous; and they may be said literally to be the only children in the city who have any play-grounds or out-door re-creations. Such is the criminal deficiency of Cincinnati in parks or public grounds.

FINANCIAL CONDITION OF THE BOARD. The following shows the receipts and disbursements of the School Board during the Total expenditure ..... ...$230,834 14 ACCOMMODATIONS FOR PUPILS.

Lots for new school-houses have been pro-Lots for new school-houses have been pro-cured in the Western and Northern Districts of the city, but the School Board has been hindered from building on them by the im-possibility of raising money upon city bonds at par, as required by the conditions of the ordinance of May 13, 1859. Thus far, the bonds authorized by that ordinance have been used only in direct payment for grounds and buildings. Efforts are being made to obtain a lot in the central part of the city for a larger and more commodious house in place of that which is occupied by the Ninth District School. When this shall be accomplished, and new buildings erected upon this and the lots recently purchased, we shall have provided for little more than the demand new actually made money as for school-recovery. now actually made upon us for school-rooms. Detached rooms, at a distance from the Principal's appervision, and in inconvenient places, which we are at present compelled to use, are found to be expensive, and every way unsuitable for school purposes.

The expense of repairs has been unsually heavy, in consequence of the violent storm on the 21st of May, by which the roofs of two of the school-houses, Third and Four-

Hamilton County Fair-Fourth Day. The entries of draught and blooded horses The entries of draught and blooded horses yesterday, were not so numerous as had been expected, but the stock exhibited was of the first-class. Three blooded stallion coits were not shown, although entered; so that a stallion, four years old, the property of J. C. Schmidt, of Hamilton, was the only horse shown of the thorough-bred class. The trotting matches were spirited, and exhibited great speed and bottom on the part of the horses. The premium for the fastest double team was awarded to the well-known Wm. Wood, livery-stable keeper, corner of Race and Longworth streets. The winning horses were "Uncle Ned" and "Abby," the two making one of the finest teams ever put upon a road. They are about six years old, and although they have never undergone any special training for the ring, evince all the qualities of old trotters, "Abby's" form and symmetry will compare favorably with any mare of her size in the country, and will doubtless win many more laurels, if taken into the ring. The same span will be entered for a hundred dollar vertex.

In our notice of the Floral Department yesterday, we did unintentional injustice to Mr. J. S. Cook, of Walnut Hills, whose assortment of plants and bouquets were inferior to none exhibited. It is the intention of to none exhibited. It is the intention of several of the principal competitors to contest the premiums awarded to Mr. Heaver for bouquets, as he did not enter them till three hours after the time specified by the rules of the Association, thereby obtaining him the advantages of daylight in making his arrangement, while the others, supposing the rules would be strictly enforced, were compelled to do their work at night.

The most attractive feature of the day, however, was the performance of Monsieur Blondin, which drew together a crowd of from 4,000 to 5,000 people. Soon after four o'clock, the agile Frenchman made his appearance on the top of Weatherby's Saloon, at the south end of the rope, and commenced running with great rapidity toward the caphitheater, occasionally stopping and lying or sitting down on the rope, as if to rest himself; then rising and adjusting his balance without difficulty, he would continue his lofty journey.

When past the south side of the amphitheater, he laid down on the rope, turned two or three summersets, stood on his head, swung himself with his head downward by two or three summersets, stood on his head, swung himself with his head downward by one foot, then with his feet downward by his hands, &c. Leaving the tight, Mons. B. descended to a slack-rope, when he turned numerous summersets; after which, he ascended, and walked to the platform at the north end of the rope, where he fastened a basket, of the capacity of half a bushel, upon each foot, and then returned the whole length of the rope. This is a common feature of Mr. B.'s performance, but it is, at the same time, a most extraordinary one. When walking thus, at a hight of sixty feet, an involuntary shudder convulsed the great mass of the spectators present, and his safe arrival at the spectators present, and his safe arrival at the end of the rope was greeted with un-bounded applause. He will perform again to-day, and those who wish to witness his feats should embrace the opportunity to be present.

The following is the list of premiums awarded yesterday, together with the few omitted in the list of the day previous:

National Theates.—This house was again filled last night. Maggie Mitchell's performance of "Peg Woffington" was characteristic. It was not "Peg," but it was Maggie; and as Maggie is charming, what more could be asked? The scene in which the unexpected wife breaks in most the the unexpected wife breaks in upon the revel of her husband and mistress and his friends, in town, was divested of the unpleasantness in town, was divested of the unpleasantness of the haughty sarcasm of "Peg," and the distress of "Mrs. Vane," but the betrayed mistress and jealous wife joined in the laughter of the audience, and all had a jolly time. They were both incbriated at the time, and leave layer families. large families.

GOOD NEWS FOR OUR CITIZENS .- We learn that Dr. Montarde, the celebrated French chemist and discoverer of Dr. Montarde miraculous "Pain Killer," and great French "Rheumatic Remedy," is about to establish an agency in the city for the sale of his celebrated medicine. It has created quite a sensation throughout the Union.

Population and Prayer-Merrings.—If St. Louis has 1,000 more souls than Cincinnati, that place does not compare with ours in the means of saving them. They may enjoy this triumph now, but we shall have our turn in the next world. The prayer-meeting reporter of the Times has been on a scouting expedition to that place, spying out the nakedness of the land. He makes out rather a desolate state of affairs in that Zion. He says: "We have heard a good Christian gentleman say that he believed the Lord has said of St. Louis, let it alone, it is joined to its idols." The reporter trusts, however, that this is a mistake. For our part we are resigned to the will of Providence. He says:

"The Church, South, is very strong. Many soon be organized. These gentlemen are now on the look-out for a competent preacher."

Certainly, there should be a Northern Church. How can Northern sinners find salvation in a Southern Church. Let the Missouri Compromise Line be extended through the Churches.

The following shows a lamentable state of things there that will go far to console us for our shortage of 1,000.

"The Young Men's Christian Union have a lent, but find it difficult to get the city ministers (Presbyterians, particularly) to preach for them. In one case a minister of this denomination was solicited on eight different occasions to preach, and on the ninth solicitation generously condescendee."

Nine is a magic number, and the parturition of the St. Louis clergy occurs on the ninth solicitation. Here, preachers cry aloud in the streets and no man regardeth.

The following will more than offset 1,000 in population.

The following will more than offset 1,000 in population:

"A Business Men's Neon Prayer-meeting could be sustained if the clergy would lend a helping voice. But this they practically refuse to do."

refuse to do."

Alas! without a Business Men's Prayermeeting, and with no clergymen to lend a helping hand, the greater the population of St. Louis, the greater the number for perdition. If such were the condition of things here, we should think it criminal to wish a larger population. After this we can not envy St. Louis. We would not exchange our privileges for all her population!

National Agricultural Society's Fair—

Vermont Heads the Column.—A flock of valuable sheep, all the way from the Green Mountain State, reached the grounds of the United States Exhibition yesterday. We learn that numerous entries are being received from different States, and that the farmers and mechanics of Ohio will make a fine display before our visitors from abroad. The mechanics of this city will also be well represented, and humerous specimens of represented, and numerous specimens of their industrial skill can not fail to attract
